

Spike Island

In Conversation: Aurélien Froment, Anna Craycroft and Michelle Henning

21 August 2014

Aurélien Froment recently took part in a discussion of his exhibition Fröbel Fröbeled with artist Anna Craycroft and academic Michelle Henning. The exhibition is based on the work of German educationalist and founder of the first Kindergarten Friedrich Fröbel (1782–1852), provoking a conversation around the links between art and education and the potential that education can have in the gallery space.

To listen to the conversation, please copy and paste the following link into your browser:
<https://soundcloud.com/spike-island-bristol/aurelien-froment-in-conversation-with-anna-craycroft-and-michelle-henning>